

Dimitris Mitsainas serves as Energy & Utilities Senior Presales Manager at Intrasoft International. He has 22 years' experience on product design for telecom and electronics industry at Computer Technology Institute – affiliated to the Dept of Computer Engineering & Informatics of Patras University, the Hellenic Air Force Research Center & Electronic Depot Department and at Intracom. He led the development of DSL and Fiber technologies as R&D Department Manager at Intracom Telecom. Since 2010 is working on smart metering and smart grid technologies for energy and water industries.

He holds an MEng in Computer Engineering and Informatics from the University of Patras (1990) and an MSc on Management of Business Innovation and Technology from Athens Information Technology Institute (2012) and served as Deputy Secretary General at the Hellenic Association of Computer Engineers/Technical Chamber of Greece.