

Dr. Adva Zach Maor is a Water treatment expert with profound experience in filtration processes and filtration products development . Adva specializes in particle filtration technologies together with product development methodologies. Adva has been working for Amiad Water Systems during the last 7 years in various positions, and in the last 2 years as VP R&D, established and executed internal innovation campaigns both on the local and on the global levels.