

Natan ZutaCo-Founder and CEO

Natan Zuta is among the co-founders of IOsight and has been the CEO since 2007. Through his vision of targeting developing markets and water infrastructure, Natan has successfully transformed IOsight from a start-up to a leading provider of BI systems for infrastructure facilities. Under his leadership IOsight has evolved from the R&D stage to a company with a series of specialty products in the water, energy and waste industries. Natan has 18 years of engineering experience in the software industry and a deep knowledge of information systems. He was also a successful entrepreneur with Generic Solutions, a start-up which has become a leader in providing a special-purpose ERP system to the construction industry. Natan is currently a director at Generic Solutions. IOsight's system benefits from Natan's unique combination of industrial management and software engineering expertise with an experienced business perspective.
