

Rafi Laderman Bio

Rafi Laderman has been working in the water and renewable energy industry for over 20 years, including water reclamation systems, solar energy, solid waste recycling and more. His expertise is primarily focused on launching innovative technologies and implementing them as commercial solutions in new markets. Rafi is a graduate of the Technion University in Israel in Mechanical Engineering (BSc) and in Business Administration (MBA).

Rafi has been with Fluence Corporation for 2 years and is responsible of the commercial activity in numerous European, Asian and Pacific markets, including the Fluence water treatment and wastewater treatment solutions.