

Vadim B. Malkov (PhD in Chemistry) joined Hach Company as an R&D chemist in 2002 and moved over to the business & marketing organization in 2008. During his tenure at Hach, Vadim has led and participated in development of many process analyzers, methods and applications. Dr. Malkov has published multiple papers in scientific and professional journals and presented his works at major conferences in the United States and abroad. Dr. Vadim Malkov is currently working at Hach as a Principal, Product Applications Manager with focus on Municipal Applications and primarily Drinking Water.

